

Funeral Wishes

Helping family and friends take care of the arrangements when the time comes.

Planning your own funeral is not something everybody wants to talk about. By writing some details down no matter how brief, it will help those that will be taking care of the arrangements when the time comes.

Even if all you can decide is whether you would prefer a burial or cremation service, it will make a difference and there will be no second-guessing on what you may or may not want.

We have prepared a list of questions to consider when arranging a funeral. Please don't feel you have to know everything; the list is just a guide and can be amended or added to.

After you have made your wishes, please make sure you let someone know you have done this. You are very welcome to return your wishes to us for safe keeping so that when the time comes the information can be incorporated with the funeral arrangements.
